

Neutral Team in Talks

Teachers in the Jefferson Union High School District have agreed to select a fact-finding team to prepare a financial evaluation of money available for salaries and other items.

With negotiations in that six-school district progressing slowly, the district representatives asked the teachers' representatives last week to appoint a neutral fact-finding team.

The designated representative for the board of trustees, Dr. Harold Tonini, said Certified Employees Council, representing the teachers, and the district have reached an impasse in negotiations.

He cited disagreement in salary raises, binding arbitration and sabbatical leaves.

The CEC, however, was not in total agreement on the question of fact-finding.

The CEC voted 5-4 in favor of fact-finding with all four members of the American Federation of Teachers voting against the action.

Representatives of the adult school and Jefferson Union High School Teachers Association (affiliated with California Teachers Association) were in favor of the action.

Mike Tugendreich, a Serramonte High School teacher and AFT program director, said the AFT will not assume any financial obligation for the appointing of a fact-finder.

"We don't know one single instance where fact-finding has been favorable for teachers," Tugendreich said.

Even if the fact-finding team should determine more funds are available, Tugendreich said he is skeptical the district would offer that money to the teachers.

Under the guidelines of the Winton Act established for educational negotiations, a fact-finding team is comprised of three persons.

The teachers' and the district's representatives each select an individual for the team. Those two selected members appoint a third person to serve as chairman.

The team then meets and evaluates the district's financial position to see if any more money is available than currently known.

Their report is in no way binding for either party.

Grand Jury Blasts County Schools' Chief

By DUANE SANDUL

The County Grand Jury has issued a blistering report against the County Schools Department, its trustees and superintendent for their insistence to proceed with plans for a $4.5 million outdoor education facility in the future.

The Grand Jury, in a 11-page report issued Friday by Foreman Joseph Karp of Burlingame, strongly urged that the controversial issue be put before the voters at the earliest possible election date.

The report revealed that the Grand Jury was forced to issue subpoenas to members of the Board of Education last month after it appeared that they were reluctant to appear voluntarily.

J. Russell Kent, superintendent, told The Post that he would respond to the report early next week. He received a copy Friday at 3 p.m. He wants to see Dist. Atty. Keith C. Sorenson first.

Among the Grand Jury allegations:

• The Board of Education paid more for the 173-acre Coastside site for the facility than its appraised worth, and set up an open-ended escrow provision in the sales agreement which permits unlimited interest money to be paid to the sellers of the land.

• The Board of Education and Kent are "aloof and unresponsive to the citizens who have attempted input on the outdoor education project. They were also unresponsive to the Grand Jury in its attempt to conduct an official investigation."

The present Grand Jury also charged, "The Board of Education paid more for the property than its worth. They paid $290,000 for the land while their own appraiser said it was worth $273,050, and two years later the county tax assessor indicated the land is currently taxed on a fair market value of only $129,780."

The Grand Jury concluded that the board's intentions to purchase the property now and to take no action on construction is an attempt "to deliberately keep the proposed project low profile and out of the public view through the strategy of purchasing the property now and deferring construction plans until the opposed citizens have forgotten about them and then going ahead."

The report chronicled how the past two Grand Juries also have issued reports recommending the withdrawal of the plan.

"Notwithstanding the concern by two grand juries, the Board of Education was still determined to acquire the land and proceed with construction of a new outdoor education facility," the report said.

It noted that opposition includes the county supervisors, planning commission, council of majors, government research council and a taxpayers' coalition.

The report said that a citizen at the July 23 meeting of the Board of Education was told in response to a question that the trustees had spent $48,005.27 in preparation for acquiring the 173 acres, and on the facility design.

However, at a subsequent meeting of the board, one week later, the actual total figure was given at $192,044.41, (omitting a figure of about $42,000 in interest paid to the sellers of the land.) Due to the huge disparity in the two figures, it appears to the Grand Jury that the Board of Education misinformed the public regarding the monetary features of the project.

The report told of how on Dec. 20, 1972, County Parks Director John T. Brook offered Kent the free use of county-owned land for the contemplated facility, and that several sites were offered, the most promising being Pescadero Creek Park, consisting of 5,600 acres.

The county was planning a future public park there. See GRAND JURY, Page 2

New Name for School

By WILL THOMAS
Editor, The Post

Vista Mar School, a unique, round facility on Southgate Avenue in Daly City will have a new name tonight.

David Parker, chairman of the Jefferson Elementary School District Board of Trustees, announced Friday night that the board would re-name the school the "Marjorie Tobias School."

At the time of Parker's disclosure, Miss Tobias was being honored for 50 years' service to the JESD as a teacher, principal and consultant.

The Marquee room of the Burlingame Hyatt House was filled with friends, colleagues, past and present, and numerous former students and well-wishing parents.

Among the former students and seated at the head table with Miss Tobias, were Elio Fontana, San Mateo County Board of Education trustee and a former Community College and Jefferson Union High School District Board member, and Dr. Floyd Gonella, superintendent of the Jefferson High School District, headquartered in Daly City.

MISS TOBIAS first taught at "Little Jeff" (Jefferson Elementary) then moved to Woodrow Wilson — where she was principal, eighth grade teacher and superintendent's secretary.

She later became principal at Crocker School, and when Colma Intermediate opened, she also became principal there.

Miss Tobias next opened Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School — on the opposite side of Daly City-Colma area — but retained her Colma principalship as well.

Then she opened Olympia School, where she was principal, in addition to Franklin. She took over the new Vista Mar School, giving up Franklin, but keeping Olympia.

She later gave up Olympia and kept only the Vista Mar principalship, a post she held until her "retirement" in 1971.

But, Miss Tobias did not leave the district. She merely moved to district offices as a special projects consultant, which she actively holds today.

However, now she is acting principal of George Washington School, whose previous principal, Tom Natarro, has become director of the district's Emergency School Aid Act (ESAA) program.

AT THE TRIBUTE Friday night, for which retired JESD associate superintendent Vinton Stratton was master of ceremonies, it was pointed out that Miss Tobias has been called on frequently since her "retirement" to open or close a school as principal.

Miss Tobias holds the dubious distinction of having been principal of two schools at the same time when both were on double session.

She is known in the educational community for her energy.

Fontana recalled that even in 1934 Miss Tobias was considered the "fastest thing on two legs we'd ever seen."

Gonella, who was one of Miss Tobias' eighth grade students at Crocker, said one of his "many good fortunes" was that "I had Miss Tobias as a teacher."

She has served under eight superintendents, "and so far has outlasted seven of them," said Dr. Stratton, looking with a smile to the new superintendent, Herbert Hemington.

SEVERAL SPEAKERS, presenting proclamations and resolutions of commendation for Miss Tobias, spoke of her talent, energies and capabilities.

She was called "an inspiration."

Letters or resolutions came from Wilson Riles, the state's superintendent of instruction; Congressman Leo Ryan, Assemblyman Lou Papan and others.

Miss Tobias, in acknowledgement, described herself as "inarticulate" and "Breathless."

Yet, she still managed to get off one of the best thoughts of the evening:

"They say the first 50 years are the hardest. These have not been so hard, and if these have been the hardest, I'm looking forward to the next 50."

Pregnant Teens in Class

By JANET PARKER
Staff Writer

Room 9 at Baden High School looks like most any high school home economics class.

With one exception: All the girls in this South San Francisco classroom are pregnant teenagers awaiting the delivery of their child.

They are enrolled in the School Age Mothers program, a class in its sixth year and steadily growing.

In fact, this year, the children of the first graduating class are attending kindergarten.

"It used to be once upon a time all girls who got pregnant in the county were put on home teaching," said Carole Eiserloh, SAM teacher.

"THEY WERE denied the education they needed in the form of maternal health," Eiserloh said.

Today, these girls come from Pacifica, San Bruno, Daly City, Brisbane, Colma and South San Francisco to participate in the Baden program.

In the South County, pregnant teenagers can attend a SAM program at the Belle Haven Community Center in Menlo Park.

Baden High School is a continuation school and the girls in the program can remain in contact with other students their age during their pregnancy.

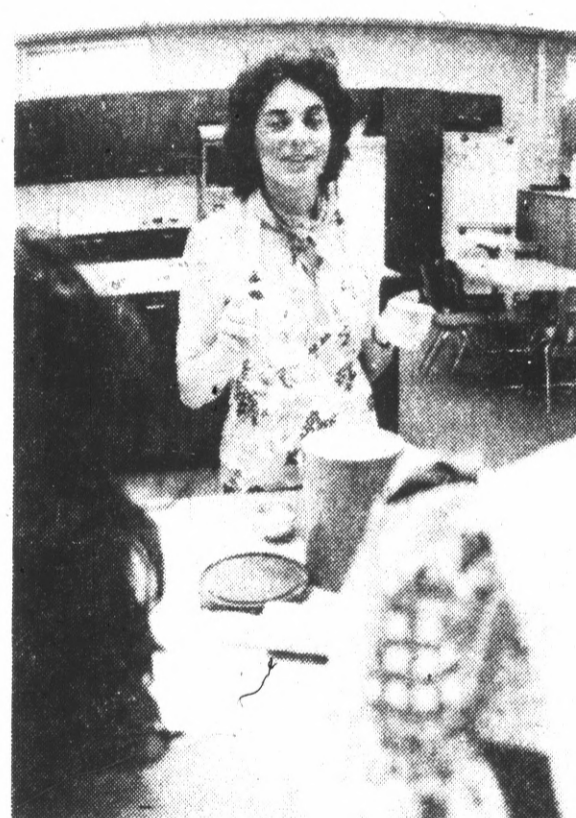

It's not necessary to hide in their homes or escape to a home for unwed mothers, the SAM staff said.

The staff includes a nurse, Mrs. Edna Daniels; a social worker, Mrs. Harriet Kumet; and Mrs. Eiserloh.

Several national trends are showing their effect here, the team agreed, and as a result, the need for SAM is becoming more obvious.

They said more young, unwed girls are keeping their babies and younger girls who have more school to complete are entering the program.

They try to involve the whole family with film nights for prospective fathers and an information group for the future grandmothers.

INSTRUCTION FOR YOUNG MOTHERS

Mrs. Carole Eiserloh provides a cooking lesson for the expectant teens in the School Age Mothers Program.

A GIRL might enter SAM after being referred from a school nurse or social worker or by hearing of the program through friends.

All the girls have been counseled on abortion and have decided to have their child.

They may complete the semester in the class after delivery but they must return eventually to their home school.

"They've made up their mind for various reasons to have the baby," said Mrs. Kumet.

In fact, she said, it's often peer or parental pressure that encourages the girl to keep the baby.

In this age group, Mrs. Daniels said, it's a chance for a mother in her late 30s or early 40s to have a new baby in the family without going through pregnancy herself.

On the other hand, a girl might keep the baby to spite advice that she shouldn't, Eiserloh said.

Mrs. Daniels, the SAM nurse, said the girls receive concentrated instruction on growth and development of the baby, on prenatal care and on labor and delivery.

About fifty per cent of the girls are married and most of those are juniors and seniors, staff members said.

OCCASIONALLY, they will accept an eighth grade student, but they said they worry about accepting girls younger than 16.

The maturity level under 16 is a problem. We experience more cases in which the child is being raised by a

Stabbing At Club

Daly City police are seeking several men in their 20s as suspects in a stabbing Saturday.

Recuperating at Mary's Help Hospital from stab wounds are Michael O'Neill, 21, of 388 Third Street and Carlos Britton, 19, of 179 West Moltke, both in Daly City.

O'Neill and Britton reportedly were playing pool at the Club First Cabin, 11 San Pedro Road in Broadmoor at about 1 a.m.

Five unidentified males, police said, also were playing when an argument developed.

Police said there was a challenge to fight and the seven men went outside into the street.

One of the suspects, police said, drew a knife and Britton was stabbed twice in the back and O'Neill stabbed once in the stomach.

Both are listed in stable condition.

CHECKING THE NOISE LEVEL

Dr. Maurice Garbell possesses a rare talent in this county.

Garbell a 'Walking Monopoly?'

By BOB PETERSON
Staff Writer

You might say Maurice Garbell is a walking monopoly.

He is a noise consultant specializing in aircraft and airport-related noise problems.

There appears to be no one else with this expertise in the country. His talent is so rare, the title, noise consultant, seems inappropriate.

Garbell works strictly on referral, and he's a busy man.

He also does aeronautical engineering, meteorology and airport and air traffic planning.

If you have a problem airport, you call Garbell.

Born one block from the Kremlin in 1914, Garbell grew up in Heidelberg and Berlin and became interested in airplanes at a young age. His uncle flew Wright Brothers-made machines.

"A sail plane pilot from way back," Garbell, who has flown thousands of miles, never has had a license to fly standard power plant planes.

MOST OF HIS 36-year flying experience has been as a perennial jump seat passenger on airlines. That's a special seat used, among other things, for observing and checking out flight crews.

It is a seat that is not easily accessible.

In Garbell's case "everybody and his kid brother in the industry knows me."

Garbell came to the United States one year after receiving a doctorate in mechanical and industrial engineering at the Institute of Technology in Milan, Italy, in 1938.

He became a Federal Aviation Administration (FAA) certificated air traffic controller in 1951. In between, he was inventing and patenting numerous novel devices for aircraft and meteorological use.

For example, a wing shape for stall safety of aircraft in flight, which has been in continual use on jet aircraft since 1946, was his brainchild.

He also developed a wind-direction instrument used by Brookhaven Laboratories in research sponsored by the Atomic Energy Commission, in addition to helicopter air-speed instrumentation.

Garbell has written 13 books and numerous papers on aircraft performance, safety in landing and takeoff, flight techniques for optimal jet performance and improved air traffic control procedures.

Although a consultant generally representing those who abhor jet and general airport noise, Garbell retains the respect of pilots, airport administrators and FAA officials for his work.

HAVING FLOWN with thousands of flight crews, I have heard every pilot's and controller's gripe under the sun," said Garbell. "They are people with a tremendous responsibility on their shoulders."

"Pilots are not happy because they fly a noisy machine," said Garbell, who's goal is not only noise abatement, but aircraft fuel efficiency and safety as well.

"They're trying to do their

Colma Names New Officer

The Colma Town Council met in special session Monday night and voted, 3-1, to hire Arthur Dollosso as the cemetery city's sixth policeman.

Dollosso, 27, presently a Foster City policeman, fills the slot vacated by the recent firing of Raymond Ottoboni Jr. for unofficial-like conduct.

Councilman Raymond Ottoboni Sr., the younger Ottoboni's father and a former mayor, voted against the hiring. The elder Ottoboni also had voted against his son's firing.

According to Colma Chief James Dorris, Dollosso's appointment will not be effective until he passes a physical exam and background check. The chief said Dollosso could be on the job by Oct. 15.

Dollosso, said the chief, was first in a recent police officer test. "We're just picking them as they go down the list," said Dorris.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK

Garbell

As a result Garbell was retained by the city.

"South San Francisco has the privilege of having one John Noonan as city attorney," said Garbell. "He agreed the solution (to noise abatement) was not to sit and scream, but to seek regulatory accommodations."

Garbell said Noonan talked to him about a noise element (now mandatory in city general plans) more than five years ago.

Garbell has been retained at various times by San Bruno, Millbrae and Pacifica.

He noted that Millbrae hasn't retained him recently. "But they can't get rid of me," he said with a chuckle. "I tell them if there's a problem. It's not the fee (he's paid on an hourly basis), assured Garbell. "I want to be sure people can live with this airport situation."

Noise abatement has become an unending challenge for the portly gentleman whose demeanor and appearance resembles that of a college professor. He did, in fact, at one time teach at the Boeing School of Aeronautics in Oakland.

"We have a (noise) situation to which this nation has drifted negligently and it affects many thousands of people and makes both sides unhappy," said Garbell.

"It became increasingly clear in the 1960's that jet engines were too noisy. Most people fooled themselves that the jet would phase in gradually. We got more and more of them and nobody anywhere made the slightest effort to develop substantially quieter ones."

"The airports try to do something. But they alone can't control this impossible machine," said Garbell.

"The airport is really trying to do everything it can. There aren't instant answers," he said.

One thing Garbell is sure of is that the airlines can't afford a retrofitting (muffling of sounds) program because it would be "marginally effective."

He said there are engines in test labs right now that are "substantially quieter" than the power plants in service. Garbell said these new engines also use 45 per cent less fuel on takeoff and 20 to 35 per cent less in flight.

"But they're so expensive the airlines can't afford them," he said.

Garbell, in what may appear a contradiction, also said the airlines can't afford not to put these new quieter more fuel efficient engines into use. "If this nation is to have a national energy program, this is one thing that simply has to be done," he said.

But the real answer to noise abatement, according to Garbell, is at the legislative level. Airline management, airport management, and even the FAA, all have limited individual powers of decision.

"They need to have strong people-based pressure to enable them to go to the legislative level. Those who have spoke up (about noise) have done us a favor," said Garbell. He believes the state-mandated noise element to a city's General Plan is a step in the right direction. What can follow, he said, is a strong action program.

"We need to go to the legislative bodies and we can do so only if residents are legitimately aroused and speak their piece effectively. Some just gripe. This doesn't help anybody."

"If decisions are made, we are about five years from a very depreciable decrease in noise," said Garbell.

grandmother when the mother is that age," Eiserloh said.

The major concern of the girls is the baby's health, they said.

"They seem to have an unrealistic idea of what a baby is," Mrs. Daniels said.

Too often, Mrs. Eiserloh said, the expectant mother sees only the picture of a cute little baby — they forget about dirty diapers and late night feedings.

"What they don't consider is what they will have to give up," she said. "They still are teenagers and they want to go out and have fun."

The staff is in constant touch with the girls. When one student misses a day of school, the social worker is on the phone to find out why.

There are problems for the young expectant mother and the SAM staff deals with some of those.

"When families find out the horrendous costs involved, they start to worry," said Mrs. Kumet. The ones not on MediCal find it astounding how much it costs for living, shopping and taking care of the house."

A girl qualifies for Medi-Cal only if she is unmarried or her husband is still in school and unemployed.

"In many cases a pregnant girl is penalized if she gets married. Some services are no longer available," she said.

SUE LEADERS, 21, is a graduate of SAM.

The South San Francisco woman is now divorced and has two children, one born while she was in the program.

The program, the South San Franciscan recalls, was "kind of exciting." The girls brought their new babies to school and shared experiences.

She was married at the time and recalls what a boost the program was.

"When you're pregnant, you go through so many changes. It's difficult to go through school with regular girls. They never understand your emotions or why you are so upset," she said.

"Everyone would stare at you. If I had to have gone to a regular high school, I would have dropped out," Mrs. Leaders said.

BONNIE JOHNSON of San Bruno was in SAM two years ago. She's 18 and had attended Serramonte High School in Daly City.

"While I was down there, I got to see a lot of girls in the same predicament as myself," she said. "It helped me face my problem. She was not married when she was in SAM and she said the class helped pregnant unmarried girls like herself see that they weren't alone in the world.

She also thinks she might not have stayed in school if SAM weren't available.

"I was looking for someplace to go. If it hadn't been for SAM, I probably would have had to get out," she said.

Despite some feelings of alienation, Mrs. Eiserloh said society is finding the unwed mother more acceptable in recent years.

MORE GIRLS are remaining in the community and are not under as much pressure to relinquish their baby.

But, Mrs. Daniels said, they all wear a wedding ring or some kind of ring whether or not they are really married. She says there's still some stigma attached to their plight.

In the future, the staff hopes to provide more individual attention for SAM participants.

They also hope high schools will begin offering classes to prepare young people for parenthood.

But, most of all, they hope their program won't need to expand too much.

"We would really like to be out of business," Eiserloh said.

Grand Jury

"The Board of Education declined to accept the offer, as they felt that the public using the County Park might spill into the children's area with the possibility of harm to the young people," the report stated.

Yet, the Grand Jury alleged, the Board of Education members initially told them at the subpoenaed hearing Aug. 18 that the county had never offered the free use of land.

"On further questioning, however, the board recalled they had, in fact, been offered the free use of land," the report noted.

Talks

Tonini, however, said the board would be happy to know of any new funds available to meet the teachers' requests.

The teachers have been seeking a 7 per cent salary increase.

To date, the district has offered $160 a teacher, or about a 1 per cent salary increase. They have said that $140,204 is available for negotiations and nothing more.

Tonini said a district representative will be informally appointed today.

Monday evening the AFT received approval for strike sanction from the San Mateo County Labor Council.

The council granted the strike sanction to be held in abeyance until Oct. 13.

Tugindreich said if negotiations are not agreeable to the AFT by then, that organization could strike.

Planners View Improvement Plan

South San Francisco planning commissioners in an abbreviated meeting last Tuesday discussed proposed development standards for multiple residential use, approved a use permit for a palmistry studio and heard a brief report on the status of a community housing study.

The staff submitted a work program detailing the first phase of the first year's community development and housing funding for the city's housing and development and improvement program. It primarily concerns efforts to identify substandard housing in the city.

City Planner David Hale said the program is designed to give residents the opportunity of improving their homes at low rates of interest.

He said it is a strictly voluntary program and the city, after homes have been inspected by an independent outside firm, will not arbitrarily seek code enforcement to bring dilapidated buildings up to city standards. Nor, he said, is any type of redevelopment program being proposed or discussed.

Hale also outlined the staff's intent to revise development standards for future multiple residential units in the city. He stressed the need to "safeguard the quality of living for those who rent."

The staff was instructed to bring back more specific details, including drawings of actual lot layouts to show whether a proposal to include patios (for balconies for units above street level) could be included without a developer having to give up other living space.

Hale said he was proposing useable open space with a minimum 100-square-foot dimension in each dwelling unit.

"Are we trading outdoor deck for indoor room?" asked Commissioner Roberta Teglia.

Hale said they were not. He said only design was involved.

Commissioner Joe Mathewson questioned the feasibility of the proposal in terms of increased costs for a developer, which would be passed on to a renter.

"There's a greater need for low cost housing," said

Mathewson.

Hale replied that it's not possible to build low-cost housing and still meet minimum design standards, adding present design standards are approaching the "undesirable" state. He said what he was proposing would not significantly increase costs.

Suspect in Robbery Is Caught

A masked man who police said held up a 7-11 store in San Bruno on Monday tried it again in Burlingame at 6:15 a.m. This time he was met by four shotgun-wielding policemen when he came out of the store.

Charged with armed robbery and held in $20,000 bail for appearance Tuesday in Central District Municipal Court was Leslie Eugene Nolan, 22, of 133 Santa Helena Ave., San Bruno, a service station attendant, police said.

According to Burlingame police officer Tom Marriscolo, officers Gary Fleming and Dennis Luca were patrolling when a silent alarm showed at the Burlingame 7-11 Store at 975 Rollins Road at 6:15 a.m.

Fleming arrived in time to observe the robbery in progress, Marriscolo said.

Marriscolo said the suspect appeared the same as he had held up a 7-11 store on August Street, San Bruno, earlier this morning.

SSF Stabbing Arrest

A 49-year-old San Francisco man was booked early Saturday on an assault with a deadly weapon charge in connection with the stabbing of his 27-year-old South San Francisco son.

Booked at the County Jail in Redwood City was Donald Egleton, Sr., of Room 28, Fairfax Hotel, San Francisco.

Police identified the victim as Donald Egleton, Jr., of 850 Antoinette Lane, an apartment where the incident allegedly took place.

A South San Francisco police spokesman said the younger Egleton was found in his bedroom at about 2:40 a.m., bleeding from the stomach.

The younger Egleton said he did not know how he was hurt, although his father earlier had told his son's roommate, Robert Delgado, 18, that they had an argument, according to police.

Activity in Scout Troop

Daly City's Scout Troop 148 has earned honors and planned activities for the fall.

Scout Robert Marozine recently became the first Eagle Scout in the troop to attain the highest award in scouting.

Police said they found the knife believed to have been used in the stabbing in the older Egleton's possession.

His son was treated at Kaiser Hospital, South San Francisco, for a flesh wound of the stomach and released.

Scoutmaster Don Davis also presented Marozine with an assistant scoutmaster patch.

The first fall troop meeting was held Sept. 12.

Assistant scoutmasters Jim Ward, Lou Fernandez, Doodie Norona and Bob Marozine were introduced.

Luncheon Tomorrow at OLM Parish

Hope you have your reservations in hand for the luncheon tomorrow noon in the Our Lady of Mercy Parish Hall!

Mrs. John Zuffo and Mrs. Michael Millane, the chairmen of the benefit being sponsored by the Westlake Catholic Women, are very happy with the way advanced ticket sales have gone and they expect a good crowd to be on hand when the three course sit-down meal is served by Luncheon Is Served.

In addition to the meal, guests may collect easy-to-prepare recipes that are extra tasty and easy on the pocket book. Games and prizes will add to the fun!

For more information about the luncheon call Mrs. Zuffo, (756-6277) or Mrs. Millane (755-3411).

WHILE ENJOYING the fun and food guests will have an opportunity to purchase tickets to two other parish events. Mrs. John Pappas and John Zuffo are chairmen of "Arrivederci Roma," the parish's Italian night which is always held in conjunction with the observance of Columbus Day.

This year the dance and midnight buffet will be on October 10 and Mrs. John Willden and Joseph Potter already have the tickets available for an evening of fun.

The Zuffos have written to friends in Naples, Italy, for the posters that will decorate the hall and the cookbooks, all written in Italian, which will be found on the tables while guests are dining on chicken, lasagna and salads.

Dancing, to the music of the Rich Landi band, will complete the festive arrangements.

Tickets may be purchased at tomorrow's luncheon or you may call Mrs. Willden (755-9353) or Mrs. Joseph Potter (992-3262).

IF YOU WANT to make all your arrangements for October in one afternoon take your check book and buy your "Arrivederci Roma" tickets and see Mrs. John Kachur, Mrs. John Cunio of Mrs. Sebastian Passanisi for tickets to Westlake Catholic Women's Day at the Races which will be October 22.

Tickets, costing $9 each, will entitle holders to admission to Bay Meadows, lunch at the Turf Club and a complimentary program. For more information call Mrs. Cunio, 756-2497 or Mrs. Passanisi, 992-1044.

SOMEONE will go to Hawaii as a result of plans being made by the Mary's Help Hospital Guild.

Mrs. Helen Corbett, chairman of the guild's Luau to be held this Saturday night, reports that two tickets to the exciting Pacific isles will be awarded during the party. In addition to the presentation of the tickets, the party committee has planned lots of surprises, good food and dancing. For more information call Mrs. Sarah Kelechava, 755-7732.

OCTOBER 9, is the date to remember if you want to attend the Ladies Luncheon League meeting being planned by the Lakeside Presbyterian Church's Women's Association.

Marjorie McLeod is the president of the group and she is urging everyone to call 566-8833 to reservations. Tickets are being sold for $2 per person. Luncheon will be served at 11:30 a.m.

OCTOBER 7 is the date for "Camp Reunion Night" of the mothers and children who took part in the Friends Outside family camp in August.

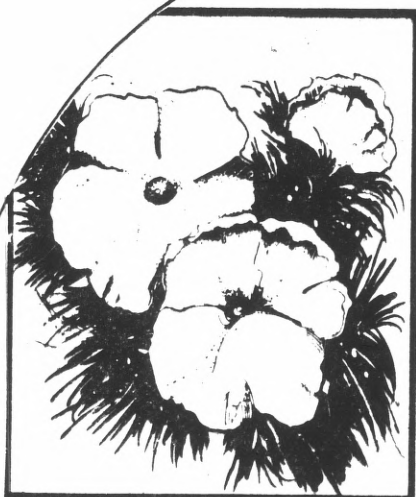

The pictures taken during the summer outing will be shown and Bill Crouser, pastor of Mt. Cross, the camp site, will be on hand for the reunion.

For more information call the Friends Outside office 661-6900.

THE SAN FRANCISCO Cable Car Chorus performed for the American Baptist Women of Westlake one recent afternoon.

Mrs. Ron Johnson, whose husband sings with the chorus, made the arrangements for the special afternoon of music. The group makes frequent public appearances on behalf of the preservation and encouragement of Barbershop Quartet singing in America, according to Mrs. Marge Davis, publicity chairman.

4 Presidents Have Been Killed

As President Ford moves around the nation, dodging bullets from every corner, it is sobering to wonder if shooting at political figures has become a national pastime.

Look at the record! Four Presidents: that is, nearly 10% of the men who have held that job, have been killed: Lincoln in the wake of the Civil war; Garfield by a disappointed office seeker; McKinley by a political screwball, who called himself an anarchist; and Kennedy, by a malcontent whose reasons have never been made clear.

In 1912, former President Theodore Roosevelt was seriously wounded by a demented man in Milwaukee. Even before Franklin D. Roosevelt was inaugurated, a mad man took a shot at him, and missing killed the Mayor of Chicago instead.

On Nov. 1, 1950 two members of a Puerto Rican nationalist movement tried to shoot their way into the home of President Truman and slay him. Other presidents, likewise, have faced assassins bullets.

Other than presidents, governors in states as far apart as Missouri, Kentucky and Idaho have been slain, while many others have been the objects of assassination attempts that have failed. Mayors by the hundreds have faced the bullets or knives of would be murderers. Among those who have fallen are a former mayor of

New York and two mayors of Chicago. In recent times, two United States senators have been killed, while others have narrowly missed death at would be murder's hands.

There are many persons who look upon assassination as the work of crackpots who have not been placed under control, but the staff of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence views the facts and events differently.

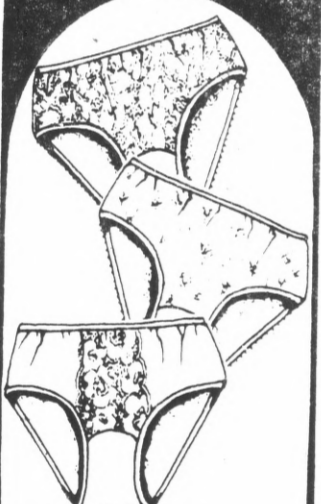

In the conclusion to their report, the staff writes: "... the level of assassination corresponds to the level of political turmoil and violence in general. In comparison to other nations, the United States experiences a high level of political violence and assassination events. Violence to achieve political goals is a threat which runs throughout the history of the United States."

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Stickney's Early Evening Dinners

Due to the success of his "Early Evening Dinner Specials" featured at the Shirt Tail, in Palo Alto, Adrian Stickney has decided to provide similar specials at his Hick'ry House restaurants (Santa Clara, Palo Alto and Redwood City). Ranging from $3 to $3.85, these specials will be served from 4:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday. Look for them this week at all the Hick'ry Houses.

Murray Lehr, dynamic owner of Lehr's Greenhouse in San Francisco, has a way of making everything he serves a little extra special. For instance: Murray's popular fresh fruit daiquiris (papaya, strawberry, banana, pineapple, coconut and peach) are all garnished with chunks of the fresh fruit used in the drinks; and glasses of red and white wine are garnished with fresh grapes of the type used in the wine. . . . Felicitations and salutations to Ida Newman, a popular San Mateo who celebrated her birthday this month. . . . How many restaurants can boast of retaining the culinary talents of the same chefs for over 15 years? Well, Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City can. Co-chefs Sal and Abel Sandoval have been pleasing the palates of countless diners at this award-winning restaurant for nearly 16 years. . . . Although Romano's in Rockaway Beach is an Italian food specialty house, Owner Enrico Romano offers a considerable choice of seafood items. . . . Glenn Yarborough and the Limeliter Reunion will take over the spotlight at Chuck's Cellar in Los Altos for a three-nights-only engagement, Oct. 2, 3 and 4. Two shows each evening, with a $4.50 cover per show. No advance sales. . . . One more week to catch Third Chapter, the group currently entertaining in the Golden Rooster Lounge at Rodeway Inn, South San Francisco. Another Vegas-type show is scheduled to open Oct. 7. . . . Phil Lehr main tains an atmosphere of relaxed elegance in the Wellington Room of his Steakery in downtown San Francisco. The food is superb and the service is flawless — but there is nothing stuffy or pretentious about it. Many of the art treasures that decorate the room came from famous old San Francisco mansions. . . . The lounge at Vince's Italian and Seafood restaurant is almost a "board room" for many high-powered San Mateo executives. Any evening during the cocktail hours you'll see a "Who's Who" of real estate, advertising and local politics conducting business over a cool refresher.

Refund Packages And Special Rates

Refund packages, with credits in cash, food and cocktails, are available at both Barney's and the South Tahoe Nugget, located in Stateline, Nevada. Refunds are available for both Drive-ups and charters, plus special rates for overnight accommodations. For information and reservations, call Nevada Tours in San Mateo (345-0488).

Jimmy Payer continues to entertain nightly, Wednesday through Sunday at Nick's Rockaway Beach. This restaurant-lounge, the original in Nick Gust's coastal restaurant empire, is a great favorite with diners appreciate of quality food and an oceanfront view. . . . The Moonraker, also just steps away from the Pacific, specializes in continental cuisine served in an intriguing nautical decor. . . . On the lower level is Captain Charles restaurant, a seafood specialty house created as a tribute to Charles Gust, father of Nick's. . . . Filet Mignon "Steak Diggity" heads the menu fare at Hot Diggity, located in the Bayhill Shopping Center, San Bruno. "Diggity Platters" include Top Sirloin (plank and petite cuts) and Steak-a-bob served with fresh seasonal fruit, home made soup and a choice of baked potato or Diggity fries. . . . Response to the 50 cent coupons being honored at Tanforan Park's Garden Restaurants has been so brisk that General Manager Jack Kuks has extended the expiration date. The coupons are now valid through October 15. They must be redeemed through the dinner hours only, Monday through Friday. . . . Mr. LaVern Cummings, one of the headliners in the current revue at Finocchio's, a world famed nitery in San Francisco, is a "torch singer" who always leaves his appreciative audiences applauding for more. The glamorous female impersonator presents a repertoire of tantalizing love ballads and melodies. . . . Jovial Joe Smiell brings his big Bavarian band to Oktoberfest USA October 3, 4 and 5 in the new Young California building at the Alameda County Fairgrounds in Pleasanton.

Civic Center Design Pact In Pacifica

Four of the five council members of the financially strapped coastal city of Pacifica Monday night approved the signing of a $39,000 agreement with Warnecke and Associates for civic center design services.

Only Councilman Sid Loran objected to the proposal. He said the project could not be pursued in the near future because the city has no funding capabilities and the agreement was, therefore, not a proper expenditure.

"If we're going to dip into a discretionary fund, we should do things required by law," said Loran.

It was a reference to the fact the city recently declined to expend monies to hire consultants to complete state mandated elements to the city's general plan. Instead, the council chose to use city manpower, miss an extended deadline and face possible retribution from the state.

Also declaring their disapproval for the council action were residents Kay Grottum, John Curtis and Ken Faria.

"This is absolutely ridiculous," said Mrs. Grottum. "Spending this amount of money and the building probably won't take place within the next decade."

She reminded the council that voters had turned down a civic center project less than 10 years ago.

Mrs. Grottum said the voters should again have an opportunity to express their sentiment.

HALLELUJAH!

A unique wedding which took place at Rockaway Beach in Pacifica last weekend heard a crowd of guests shout a happy Hallelujah! at the joyous exhortation of the Rev. H. D. Harkins of Pacifica's Chapel of the Coastside. The newlyweds, Jerry and Paula Bostwick, and Doyle Justeson, who gave the bride away, journeyed from Oroville with over 40 friends to celebrate the wedding.

High School Conference

The annual California Junior Statesmen regional fall conference, entitled "Future Shock," will be held Saturday, Oct. 4, at Serramonte High School. About 250 are expected to attend.

The conference will explore problems students will face in the future, including "women in the future," American politics,

Suspects Run Out of Gas

Two burglary suspects were stopped by San Bruno police when the auto they were driving ran out of gas.

Officer Woody Zammit arrested Benjamin Semien, 25, of Daly City and Phillip Chervellera, 25, of Redwood City, as they pushed their car Monday morning along the road only 100 yards from a burglary site.

Mrs. Mary Skillman of Crestmoor Drive reported she had entered the living room of her home from the backyard and saw a man standing in the room.

The man, police said, fled out the front door and got into a car parked at the front of the house.

Mrs. Skillman gave police a description of the vehicle and the men were apprehended at San Bruno Avenue and Crestmoor Drive.

Eye examinations are essential to detect early signs of eye problems. Your contributions can help some unfortunate youngsters to retain his eyesight.

SKYLIONS
OF DALY CITY

DALY CITY, CALIFORNIA 94017

Dear Friend and Contributor,

The Daly City Skylions are again asking your support in the forthcoming White Cane Days Drive. Each year we ask our community for funds and old eyeglasses to aid us in our work to help the blind and near blind. There are people in our community that are unable to help themselves. That is why WE are INVOLVED.

All funds raised in this drive by our club, are spent locally. Like all groups doing charitable work, finances are continually being used up. The general public aid is needed. Your donation is used 100% for sight conservation and is tax deductible.

WE ARE PEOPLE WHO NEED PEOPLE.

Sincerely yours,

Del C. Wilson
Chairman

Lions Seek Funds to Aid Blind

For 40 years, Lions Clubs throughout the country have been assisting the blind through a yearly project called White Cane Days.

Those days will arrive again Friday and Saturday when Lions Clubs will pound the pavement for donations to their White Cane Drive.

Del Wilson has been the driving force behind the Daly City Skyline's White Cane Drive for two years.

He has scrapbooks and mementoes from people his club has assisted through money raised from the annual drive.

"To me eyesight has always been a very precious thing," Wilson said.

Money a Lions Club might earn from their drive will buy canes, guide dogs, braille typewriters, braille readers and other aides for those who can't see.

His club, he said, has bought many pairs of eyeglasses.

And the Lions Eye Foundation provides eye surgery for those who can't pay the high prices.

His club, he said, usually collects from $2,000 to $3,000 during White Cane Days.

Chuck Lewkowitz, president of the Daly City Host Lions Club, said his club will be selling the white cane lapel pins.

The pins are shaped and colored like the original cane meant to be carried by a blind person to indicate his inability to see.

In recent years, he said, funds from the drive have helped his club establish two collections of books for the poorly sighted in the Daly City Library, made available operations and eyeglasses for local needy people and purchased training for guide dogs for Daly City individuals.

Other services provided by White Cane donations are eye banks for corneal transplants and eye research, hospital related equipment and services, clinics for examinations, housing for blind senior citizens and rehabilitation centers for work skills training and social and recreational activities.

Judge Quits Panel

Judge Edward Pliska

Municipal Court Judge Edward Pliska resigned Monday night as chairman of the San Mateo County Arts Council, and as a member of its board of directors.

Judge Pliska said he was leaving the council due to the press of other activities and commitments on his time, including a new Monday night television production at College of San Mateo.

In an election of officers during the council's annual meeting, Pliska was replaced by former Vice Chairman Ray Lorenzato.

Lois Kelley of Foster City was elected vice chairman, Richard Mickley of Portola Valley was named treasurer, and Marion Mendelson, newly elected to the board, was named secretary.

Nine new board members were chosen in membership balloting.

Don Carlson of Pacifica, artist and teacher; Anne Bena, Half Moon Bay director of the Peninsula Ballet Theatre; Marion Mendelson of San Mateo, active council volunteer; Gwen Wall of Burlingame, former director of the San Mateo Foundation.

Christopher Tassos of Millbrae, business manager of the San Mateo County Choral Society; Evelyn Henderson, Foster City musician; Sylvester Hodges, director of the Martin Luther King Center in San Mateo; Ruth Kraenzel of San Carlos, cable television show producer; Mogen Mogensen, Atherton architect.

Carlson and Mogensen drew one-year terms, the others are elected to the board for three years.

Steering column locks: an impact

Steering column locks have made a significant impact on California's $100 million-a-year auto theft business since their introduction by major manufacturers five or six years ago, Highway Patrol Commissioner

Glen Craig said today. A special Highway Patrol study of the effectiveness of anti-theft devices, Craig said, shows that an owner's statistical chances of having his car stolen are three times greater if it does not have a steering column lock.

The new locks, which immobilize the steering column and the gear selector lever, began to appear on 1969 and 1970 models and the study covered all 1963 through 1974 American Motors, Chrysler, Ford, General Motors and Volkswagen cars stolen in California between July 1974 and May 1975.

During the study period there were 5.9 thefts for every thousand registered vehicles equipped with steering column locks. The rate for cars without them was 17.5 per thousand. Chevrolet showed the greatest variation in rates — 6.2 with the locks compared to 34 without them.

Craig said that while some highly professional thieves are able to defeat the new locks, their effectiveness is more likely to be lost because owners leave their keys in their cars. FBI and CHP studies indicate this to have been the case in half the thefts of cars with steering column locks.

"As more vehicles with the newer locking devices are manufactured and older vehicles equipped with less effective locks are phased out," Craig said, "we can expect the California theft rate to improve significantly."

"However, improved locking devices is not the entire answer to curbing this costly crime. The more sophisticated locks will be of little value if owners continue to make the keys available to the thief."

Information evening set

Westmoor High PTA and the Guidance Department are co-sponsoring college information night for all parents, teachers and students Oct. 9.

It will be held in Westmoor Little Theater 8-10 p.m.

Guest speakers for the evening are, Louis Macias and James Wyatt representing University of California and Skyline College, respectively.

After the meeting refreshments will be served by the PTA.

St. Andrew's schedules courses at new center

Summer of 1975 saw a long sought dream of St. Andrew's Community become a reality — the completion of the multi-purpose parish center.

The parish center was constructed with versatility in mind. It has a main body for parish worship, a chapel wing, an office wing and lots of flexible space.

The new center is located at the corner of Southgate and Sullivan Avenues in Daly City.

At present, the fall semester of St. Andrew's Community Education Program is ready to begin with courses and workshops being offered for the adults of the Bay Area, especially those in the vicinity of St. Andrews.

Courses offered will be of interest to every adult, single, married, young and elderly.

The various courses are being offered at different dates and days and time to accommodate most people's schedules.

The various courses and workshops being offered this semester are described briefly below.

For further information regarding this adult education program at St. Andrew's, call Sister Irmayn Benkert, education director, 756-3222.

Course 1, called "Is That All There Is?", is scheduled to begin on Thursday evenings, 8-9:30 p.m. at the center.

The instructor is Brother Carl Lyons, F.S.C. who is an associate professor of Religious Studies at St. Mary's College.

He plans to use films to present contemporary attitudes of life after death.

Discussion will focus on such topics as what a modern Catholic believes about life after death and how it affects everyday living.

"Celebrate Life: Focus on Women" will be given at the Center Thursday evenings, 8-9:30 p.m. starting Oct. 30.

A communications workshop called "Crosstalk" will be given by Frank Klung, counseling psychologist at Mount St. Joseph's in San Francisco.

This workshop will help adults become more aware of communication problems with teenagers and will supply specific tools for constructive change.

It is offered Tuesday evenings from 8-9 p.m. starting Oct. 26.

Course No. 5, "Celebrating in the Home" is a craft workshop.

It is offered at the center on Thursday mornings from 10 a.m.-noon.

Some of the crafts are cake decorating, pillow and table cloth making, gift making and many more ways to enrich your home celebrations.

"The Course in Christian Initiation" (Family of God) uses discussion groups to look at the basics of faith in light of our own contemporary experiences.

The course will be held in the homes of the participants under the guidance of a trained moderator. It runs for 10 weeks, 2 hours a week, beginning in January.

Sister Joan Murphy, PBVM is a staff member of the Ecumenical Peace Institute and a facilitator of Women's Awareness Weekends.

She will conduct a course called "Women's Awareness Workshop" which will be offered on Monday mornings from 10 a.m.-noon starting Nov. 3.

Course No. 8, "Men's Awareness Group" with Jack Gilligan as facilitator will be given at the dates and times arranged to fit the schedules of the participants.

"Flower Arranging" by Mrs. Margaret Ambrose will include elementary instructions on arranging flowers for decorating and entertaining. Mrs. Ambrose, received her training at city college, and presently operates a retail florist shop in her own home.

The course will be offered Monday evenings at the center from 7-10 p.m.

Course No. 10, "Beginnings of Faith", is sponsored by the Religious Education Office, Archdiocese of San Francisco, and is being conducted by Sister Karen, S.H.F., Office of Religious Education, and Charlene Stockwell, pre-school coordinator St. Gregory's, San Mateo.

This course offers a series of discussions for parents on the religious development of the young child. It will be given on Wednesday mornings 9:30-11:30 a.m., beginning Oct. 8.

St. Andrew's Staff will conduct seminars on "Celebrating Sacraments" for parents whose children are preparing for the sacraments of Eucharist, Penance and Confirmation. The seminars will be offered the first of next year.

The rules of the pool, according to Mrs. Pardini, are "Green Girl Scout permission slips are a must; permission on any other type of paper will not be acceptable."

"Long hair must be braided or put back with a rubber band. The decisions of all lifeguards will be obeyed; all scouts will report to the lifeguards for a reading of the pool rules before entering the water."

"There will be an adult at the pool door to collect permission slips," Mrs. Pardini said. Young adult lifeguards donating their time include Jane Stewart, Ellen Ridge, Cheryl Figone and Cathy Walters. Parents are to pick up swimmers no later than 9 p.m.

TUESDAY evening, the first of two workshops will be offered in the Daly City Girl Scout Association to help troop committee members and/or troop finance coordinators understand and interpret the new system for troop registration, Share of Belonging and insurance in troops.

Each Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior troop is expected to send a representative to this meeting or the second session to be held the next day, according to Daly City Girl Scout Association Finance Chairman Mrs. Margaret Kachur.

Registration is with Mrs. Kachur at 58 Clifton Drive, Daly City for the session which will be held at 7:30-9 p.m. at Breuer's in their community meeting room on the second floor.

Opening Days at Jefferson High

By LORI GOLDEN
Correspondent

Nowadays, it proves to be a lot more comfortable around Jefferson than in past.

A school once built to accommodate more than 2,000 students, it now caters to a smaller group of only 1,200 students.

The school year started off rather dismal, with the threat of a teacher walkout, but things have since quieted down and negotiations have continued.

The first rally of the 1975-76 school year took place on Sept. 19 in the school's gymnasium.

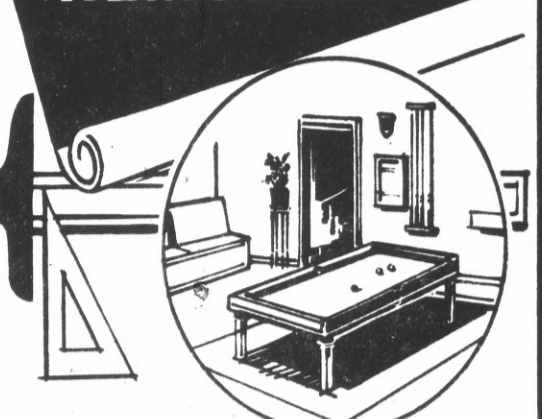

The spirit displayed by each of the classes tells us that we are really in for a good year.

The highlight of the rally was a banana eating contest won by senior, Danny O'Shea.

The football team in the past few years has been unsuccessful.

This year, we feel that we have a championship-caliber team. We hope that we can not only get support from the school, but the much needed support of the community.

Good morning, good cooks.
Fried chicken could be almost called an American institution for it is surely a favorite in most American homes. There are some basic steps in preparing fried chicken that would be good to review.

- A broiler-fryer of any weight may be cut up and fried, or desired pieces may be purchased for frying.
- Rinse chicken, drain and pat dry.
- If desired, combine mixture for coating chicken for frying (usually flour and seasonings).
- Place flour mixture in large bowl, paper, or plastic bag.
- Shake 2-3 pieces of chicken at a time in the mixture to coat evenly.
- Heat 1/4 inch of butter, margarine, cooking oil or shortening in a skillet until a drop of water sizzles.
- Start browning larger white pieces of chicken first, placing smaller pieces in between, as chicken browns. Turn with kitchen tongs to brown and cook evenly.

• First Method: Cook uncovered, 15 to 25 minutes on each side, turning only once.

• Second Method: The chicken may be lightly browned in about 15 minutes. Reduce heat; cover tightly and cook slowly until larger pieces are tender, 20 to 30 minutes, depending on size thickness of pieces. Turn once or twice to assure browning and cooking. Uncover the pan the last 10 minutes of frying to recrisp the skin.

Now that we have the basic rules in mind, let's consider making a delicious chicken dinner.

CHICKEN PAPRIKA

- 3 to 3 1/2-pound broiler-fryer chicken, cut up
- 1/3 cup flour
- 6 Tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 teaspoons paprika
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 envelope dry onion soup mix
- 2 cups hot water
- 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
- 1 cup light cream

Coat the chicken pieces with the third cup flour. Melt the six tablespoons butter or margarine in skillet; stir in the two teaspoons paprika and one teaspoon sugar.

Brown the chicken slowly, about 10 minutes. Stir the half envelope soup mix into the two cups hot water and pour over browned chicken.

Cover and cook over moderate heat for 25 minutes. Add the half cup chopped green pepper. Pour one cup light cream over chicken; cover and cook 10 minutes longer or until chicken is tender.

Serve over hot rice.

Makes 4 generous servings.

A TOAST

Pouring a glass of vino is Mr. Michael Millane (standing) to toast the Westlake Catholic Women and Men's Club Italian Night. "Arrivederci Roma" will be held Oct. 10 from 8:30 p.m. - 1 a.m. in Our Lady of Mercy Parish Hall and features dancing to Rich Landi and a midnight buffet. Shown are (from left) Mrs. Peter Balestrieri, Mrs. Joseph Potter, John Zuffo and Mrs. John Pappas. Tickets are $7 a couple.

Chamber Musicians' Directory Completed

The San Mateo County Chamber Music Society announces the completion of its first edition of a Directory of Chamber Musicians.

Sponsored by the Performers and Composers Guild of the society, the directory was produced under the direction of Helen Beyer, the society's executive and musical director, with the assistance of Ronald Pantan, chairman of the project.

The directory lists approximately 250 amateur and professional musicians, residing in San Mateo and Santa Clara Counties, who have expressed interest in participating in the Chamber Music Experience.

It is hoped that this listing will enable groups to form at various levels of ability and experience.

Dedicated to the memory of Dr. Robert M. Featherstone, internationally renowned scientist, amateur violinist and charter member of the Performers and Composers Guild, the directory is available to non-guild members and community organizations for a nominal fee.

For copies call the society at 730 Winchester Drive in Burlingame.

Deadlines

The deadline for receiving material intended for publication in this section each Wednesday is the previous Thursday. Mailing address is P.O. Box 248, San Bruno, Ca. 94066.

Water, Money Occupy RPC Agenda

Water and money were the big issues for Thursday night's meeting of the San Mateo County Regional Planning Committee.

The questions of where to get money to build highways, and how to get enough water for the future were only discussed because the group failed to get a quorum together.

Acting Chairman Aaron Jackson led the discussion on money, asking for a report on status of the city-county highways fund.

County Transit Engineer John Guilhamet suggested the cities of San Mateo county should look to alternate sources of road funding, since the state's Department of Transportation (Caltrans) no longer has money to build new highways.

Asked whether "we'll see potholes developing in Bayshore Freeway and no one fixing them," Guilhamet said he believes Caltrans will have enough money for maintenance, but not for new construction.

Cities that need highway overpasses or other projects normally supported by federal funds and state matching money, should look for other funding, he said.

Guilhamet suggested local fund-raising to obtain the "matching" portion of highway funds now available under a variety of federal programs.

RPC members suggested this might set a dangerous precedent of local financing for state roads, but asked Guilhamet to bring a Caltrans representative to their next meeting to provide more detail.

Water is another question, with RPC members McRobert Stewart from Daly City and Loretta Currie from San Bruno suggesting some positive answers.

"We have the water right now," said Stewart, "all we've got to do, is use it."

He suggested re-use of treated and reclaimed sewage water, rather than "dumping 120 to 130 million gallons a day, into the ocean."

In private conversations, he and Currie agreed that cities should also begin collecting and storing storm waters, and consider "re-charging" pumped out wells with reclaimed water from sanitation and storm sewer systems.

Stewart told the RPC that there are now some "85 wells in the area between San Bruno and Golden Gate Park, all pumping 24 hours a day, out of the same underground water supply."

He suggested an overall water plan, to take stock of all available sources of water and possibly to regulate the future use "through adjudication in the courts, if necessary."

Currie, who has done college study on water sources in the San Mateo county area, suggested a comprehensive water plan including de-salting water plants to recover drinkable water from the ocean along the South Coast, reclaimed water in other areas, and new storage dams in mid-county.

Anja Miller of Brisbane said her city had Monday night authorized a survey of all creeks and springs "on San Bruno mountain," recognizing that accurate information on water supply is becoming crucial.

San Mateo County used to be considered an "emergency water supply" for San Francisco, she said, in times of intense seismic disturbance. In recent years, the water table has been turned, and San Mateo County depends on San Francisco to supply local water.

Guilhamet and County Planning Department staffer Bill Powers said a comprehensive survey of the county's water supply is being made, through the Mid-Peninsula Water Agency, and a watershed management plan will be developed.

Major sources of water are being mapped, Powers said, and future uses will be closely keyed to land use plans developed by the various communities.

The South Coast area, he said, is important because "already there are water resource problems for agriculture, for recreation, and for residential uses."

In some areas of the county, Powers said, the availability of water is going to determine land use.

Stewart said he is familiar with the work the Mid-Peninsula Agency has been doing, and "one thing the plan does not speak to, is the ready resource of 120 to 130 million gallons a day being dumped into the ocean.

Some sewage plants in the county, he said, are now producing near drinkable water, and others will be doing so "in another step of treatment."

He suggested "finding a way of collecting it, cleaning it up, and storing it until needed."

Helen Bedesem of Half Moon Bay said her city is already turning reclaimed sewage water toward agriculture.

An additional step of reclamation, she said, "would be cheaper than Hetch Hetchy before we're through."

She and others referred to proposals that Peninsula cities might consider providing their own water transport from San Francisco's Hetch Hetchy dam at Yosemite.

"We are the only county without our own water source," said Vic Mangini of Burlingame, and Powers corrected:

"We buy and import the major portion of our water, and we are the only county without a water management plan."

Super Plans Agency?

Creation of a county Department of Planning and Community Development with three divisions — planning, housing and redevelopment — was proposed Sept. 23 by County Manager M.D. Tarshes.

The Board of Supervisors set a public hearing on the proposal for Oct. 9.

Such a department would be an expansion of the present planning department.

Among Tarshes' recommendations to accomplish the goal are:

- The abolishment of the housing authority and the redevelopment agency, with the powers transferred to the board serving as a Community Development Commission.

- The establishment of a nine-member Housing and Community Development Citizen Advisory Committee to make recommendations to the board.

No new positions or additional funds would be required for the reorganization, Tarshes promised.

The purpose of the reorganization is to more closely coordinate the issues of planning, redevelopment and housing under a single administration.

Planning Director Donald Wolfe would be the new department's director, while there would be an assistant director for the respective units of housing, planning and redevelopment.

Tarshes said present organization fragmentation "fosters independent operations which hinder effective planning."

The manager also explained that the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, which annually provides the county with millions of dollars for the purposes, was the impetus for the establishment of a super agency.

He said the federal act expanded the responsibility and accountability of the board for previously tightly-controlled federal program grants.

The close connection between housing, redevelopment and planning requires better coordinated managerial operation, Tarshes said.

The plan also incorporates one-stop permit service for county residents.

Under the plan, all building-related permits would be filed with the building inspection division, which would direct the plans to various county agencies for approval or disapproval.

Applicants currently must go to as many as four departments for the review of plans.

Tarshes also noted that the staffs of the housing authority and redevelopment agency are not in the county's classified civil service system. One objective of the reorganization is to integrate the separate staffs into the county's classified service.

Thus, Tarshes pointed out, persons presently employed would retain their jobs.

Waste Plan Approved

The Environmental Impact Report on the county's solid waste management plan was certified as adequate and complete by planning commissioners Wednesday after the staff asked them to refer the report back to a consulting team as inadequate and incomplete.

The EIR is the document on the plan which envisions Ox Mountain in Half Moon Bay as the landfill capital of San Mateo County beginning in 1978.

itself is scheduled for Nov. 26.

The commission unanimously felt that additions or elaborations to the EIR could be added, and those with comments can communicate with the engineering and road departments.

Even out-of-county officials had comments.

Henry R. Baker, acting planning director of Santa Cruz County, wrote, "The report appears to dismiss the traffic and noise impacts associated with refuse collection and transfer vehicles on the Cabrillo Highway. The proposed plan would have substantial impact on this corridor of inter-county significance."

The waste plan envisions garbage trucks hauling the debris from transfer stations up Route 92 to the coast and Highway 1.

Mrs. Linda Craig, a public member of the County's Solid Waste Advisory Committee, told commissioners that the document "is superficial in its method of impact identification because of the lack of specific data on the impacts. I believe that the conclusions are biased to reflect a preference toward centralized landfill as an environmental benefit as compared to energy and resource recovery."

She said that the report did not state that the landfill will "fill-in an unspoiled canyon. The statement that the alterations are designed to fit the natural terrain is biased and should be omitted."

Mrs. Craig also contended that the document "concludes that the plan is environmentally beneficial primarily because it centralizes landfill operations. It does not adequately describe the resource aspects of the environmental setting, nor place such recycling needs in perspective to sound landfill management."

One of the document's spokesmen said that the government encourages resource recovery by the private sector when it is economically feasible.

Thus, Tarshes pointed out, persons presently employed would retain their jobs.

AT THE RACES

Looks like little Paul Cunnie is telling the horse to win the race. Watching him (left to right) are Mrs. John Cunnie and Mrs. Donald Costello. Westlake Catholic Women of Our Lady of Mercy Parish will hold their annual "Day at the Races" at Bay Meadows Oct. 22. Chairwoman Mrs. John Kachur said tickets are $9 and include lunch in the Turf Club. For reservations call Mrs. Cunnie, 756-2497, or Mrs. Passanisi, 992-1044.

Senior Meal Funds Asked

County Manager M.D. Tarshes was directed by county supervisors Sept. 23 to see if funds of the county's Economic Opportunity Commission can be found for a nutritional program for elderly citizens.

The order came after Chairman James V. Fitzgerald, reported that Councilman Anthony Giammona of Daly City told him last week that senior citizens often wait an extra hour at a food center in his city for food to be warmed because of lack of help.

Kathy Haney, director of the food program, reported that although the program is funded for 500 meals a day, 650 meals are often served. She said that frozen food is delivered to four centers about the county from a central warehouse in East Palo Alto, and the program is short of help throughout.

"We should look at the E.O.C. to see if we can cut from some information centers or other services to provide more direct aid," Fitzgerald commented. Edward R. Becks, executive director of the E.O.C., reported that a federal grant of $201,837 has been received for a new site for the program in South San Francisco and to provide an additional 50 meals a day there.

'Open Forum' Set by Board

The County Board of Supervisors Sept. 23 set a special 15-minute session at the beginning of each of their meetings to hear oral communications from citizens or to review correspondence not on the agenda.

The proposal was made by Supervisor John M. Ward, who said, "Many times an individual would prefer to address the board directly rather than to write as many requests get lost in the flood of mail."

He suggested that each speaker be limited to five to 10 minutes.

Supervisor Jean Fassler asked, "How would you limit the number of speakers?"

"In this case, some requests simply would have to be put on next week's agenda," Ward said.

The new policy will go into effect at the board's October 7 meeting.

Colleges Facing Challenges

There are going to be significant changes in the near future in the San Mateo Community College District.

That was the pessimistic message conveyed Wednesday by District Chancellor Glenn Smith.

Smith, speaking during a meeting of the district's board of trustees at Skyline College in San Bruno, told the audience the district has reached a watershed.

"We must face reality.

Our situation is changing," he said. And not for the better.

Smith offered that things are changing, for the most part, because of factors over which the district has little or no control.

State laws limiting district revenue, inflation, probable enrollment declines and a marked drop in day division teacher productivity were all mentioned as reasons for gloomy expectations for the future.

Smith said none of this was intended to be a ploy to be used during the current negotiations with teachers, who are teaching this semester without a contract.

But he did emphasize the matter of teacher productivity.

He stressed that evening divisions at the district's three schools produce 24 per cent of the district's revenue and take just 6 per cent of the district's budget to run.

The implication was clear: the night school is subsidizing the day division.

Smith promised action will be taken to alleviate the problem, as such: eliminating low-enrollment classes, transferring teachers from one campus to another, consolidating certain courses at one or two campuses, and reducing the proliferation of some courses.

"This does not mean an attack on quality," Smith pointed out. "But we can't avoid dealing with this. We can't take a semester to decide if we have a problem."

According to Smith, the state has decreed that community colleges will be allowed to grow at a rate of 5 per cent per year in terms of enrollment.

Anything more than that will not be funded.

Smith said, "We will crash even with a 5 per cent growth figure. So it would be perilous to continue on our present course."

He said the district is a high-cost operation and even the present upsurge in enrollment cannot be expected to continue much longer.

He outlined a number of reasons why enrollments will probably level off and decline soon:

- San Mateo County is basically a non-growth county. The population has stabilized.

- A wave of Vietnam veterans, some 3,500 of them this semester, is passing through the district. This will be a temporary phenomenon.

- The muddled state of the economy will right itself and that will mean fewer students taking job-related courses.

- The county's traditional high school populace is declining steadily.

- There is a growing resistance by taxpayers to voting for additional funds to support public education.

- Students themselves are questioning whether a college education is relevant any more.

Smith said, "An examination of all this is mandatory. This is not a cry of woe."

He stated that the district must retain a sufficient reserve for as long as possible, adding that the district must also reorganize itself to trim costs as much as possible.

CSM Prexy Replies To Child Care Issue

College of San Mateo president David Mertes, replying on the issue of child care at the college raised by a number of student mothers, at a state meeting of community college presidents in Burlingame, Wednesday, said a fund source for child care is lacking.

Noting that in the fall of 1974 interested students initiated a request to start child care service, he told of an extensive study by college and district staff that followed, along with discussions at board of trustees meetings.

"It was determined that the expense of such a service — approximately $2,000 per year per child — should not be levied on the local taxpayer, but that a source of outside funding needed to be identified," Mertes said.

"No such outside funding source was established and the college opened this fall semester without child care services," Mertes said.

The student-mothers, along with interested community support groups, had said Wednesday that they are maintaining child care at the college on a cooperative basis, with different mothers sharing the care. (Each mother gets an hour of care for each half hour given to co-op activity.)

They had complained of failure to develop a full child care program and also of downgrading of the facilities offered — they said that last year they had use of a room, with a special table for changing diapers, but that this semester had use only of a section of the dining hall.

Mertes made no comment as to the facilities offered or allowed, in his statement Thursday.

The college assumes, he said, "that a parent's decision to have children carries an individual responsibility and implies obvious limitations to an individual's activities. At the conclusion of the intensive year-long study, it was not established that the college is responsible for the care of the children of its students."

Teachers Reach Impasse

The trustees of the San Mateo Community College District asked district teachers Wednesday to declare a state of impasse in salary negotiations.

The vote was 3-0. Two trustees were absent.

Negotiations with the instructors have been protracted. They have dragged on through the past summer.

Teachers have been asking for a 9 per cent cost of living raise and the district has been offering a 5.1 per cent increase.

Trustee Robert Tarver said, "We have reached the bottom of the money barrel."

In another matter, the board learned that the state has placed the La Honda-Pescadero area in the college district.

That region of San Mateo County had not been affiliated with any community college district in the past.

The addition of La Honda-Pescadero means that the college district now includes every part of this county.

It also brings the district's total assessed valuation to about $3.015 billion.

County Gives Funds to SSF

County supervisors allocated $400,000 of their "aid to cities" fund to pay half the cost of major realignment of Mission Road in South San Francisco.

According to County Engineer S. H. Cantwell Jr., South San Francisco has agreed to match this amount but must hold another hearing before finally approving the project. The city informally approved the project on Sept. 17, he said.

"The Mission Road-Chestnut Avenue corridor provides an arterial link of areawide interest," Cantwell reported. "This project proposes the realignment of Mission Road between Chestnut Avenue and north of Oak Avenue from its present location to a new location generally paralleling the easterly side of Colma Creek. This will be all new construction involving grading, paving, drainage and appurtenant work."

Proclamation for Saint

Wednesday, Oct. 1, 1975 THE POST

In a special ceremony held last week in the chambers of Daly City's mayor, Victor Kyriakis, a proclamation was presented to Sister Rose Collins, provincial of the Western Province of the Daughters of Charity, to honor the memory of the first American-born saint, Mother Elizabeth Ann Seton.

The resolution was presented by Kyriakis and seconded by Anthony Giammona, city councilman. It outlined the numerous activities of the Daughters of Charity in San Mateo County and the west.

In addition to Mary's Help Hospital in Daly City, the Daughters of Charity operate a vast complex of charitable services for citizens of California and ten other western states. These include St. Elizabeth's Infant Home in San Francisco; O'Connor Hospital in San Jose; St. Vincent Medical Center in Los Angeles; Maryvale Orphanage in Rosemead; and fifteen schools and social service centers in California. The Daughters of Charity established the first hospital, English speaking school and orphanage in Southern California.

Sister Rose and representatives of the Archdiocese: the Rev. John W. Mullen, pastor, Our Lady of Perpetual Help and the Rev. Thomas Parenti, associate pastor, Our Lady of Mercy, then presented to Kyriakis and Giammona a reproduction of the original oil painting depicting the arrival of the first Daughters of Charity in California in 1852.

The lithograph shows the original six pioneer Sisters coming ashore in a long boat after a hazardous three month journey from Emmitsburg, Maryland.

They travelled by sailing ship to the Isthmus of Panama, then by mule to the Pacific Ocean and another sailing ship which brought them to California.

Mother Seton was born in 1774 and in 1809 at the age of thirty-one was a widow with five children. At that time she set up a charitable congregation in Emmitsburg, Maryland and petitioned the Mother House in Paris for the rules and statutes of the Daughters of Charity.

The official canonization of Mother Seton was held this month in Rome.

Mary's Help Hospital, opened in 1975, is presently licensed for 350 beds and serves Northern San Mateo County and San Francisco.

The hospital is in the midst of planning for a $15 million expansion program which will not add new bed space but will include an urgently needed new ambu-

Perkins Stars as SM Rips Rams

More than making up for any possible lost time from last week, San Mateo High's football team whitewashed winless Westmoor Friday for its second win, second shut-out and the second excellent running performance by halfback Charles Perkins.

Perkins led the 41-0 romp with 188 yards in 22 carries after gaining 114 in the defense-minded 6-0 win over Serramonte last week.

Bearcat coach Dave Brolar is also apparently tantalizing MPL scouts by showcasing everybody's all-star halfback Jeff Clarke, but even though Clarke got just 60 yards in 12 carries against the Rams, all the moves were there. The San Mateo eleven (now 2-0) should have one of the most potent one-two punches with Clarke and Perkins clicking.

Four pass interceptions and one brick wall stand killed any chance Westmoor had. On its first drive Westmoor penetrated San Mateo easily enough until Jeff Jackson's interception snatched on the 30, and ensuing 70-yard touchdown return.

Westmoor again moved well after the kickoff, marching 78 yards to the San Mateo two. But then the Bearcat defensive line, especially the right side, held the Rams to one yard in four plays.

Sports And Recreation

Westmoor stiffened in turn and forced a punt, but roughed the kicker. San Mateo got the ball back and went on to score; Perkins tallied with an 18-yard run.

Bearcat quarterback Don Cornell later hit John Sievers for 20 yards, setting up a 27-yard TD pass to Clarke.

Falcons Blank Oceana

By DAN BERTELLOTTI
Times Correspondent

Being flashy doesn't always produce great results.

Sometimes the simple things work better.

Crestmoor High's football team gave visiting Oceana a dose of simplicity Friday night at Burlingame Field, dumping the Sharks 12-0.

The Falcons ran inside from tackle to tackle all night and gradually wore Oceana down.

Halfback Mike Mooney was a one-man wrecking crew, grinding for 135 yards on 21 carries and scoring both Falcon TDs, from two yard out each time.

Quarterback Larry Navilhon threw short crisp passes, completing eight of 14 for 96 yards. Junior Joe McClelland latched onto five of them for 37 yards.

But even with Navilhon and Mooney moving the ball, fumbles killed three drives, forcing the defense to play more than it wanted to.

The Falcon defense didn't exactly shut down the Shark offense, but used the Cleveland Brown "bend but don't break" strategy.

Crestmoor gave up 209 yards, but Oceana never got closer than the 18-yard line. The opportunistic defense picked off five passes and recovered one fumble.

The last four Oceana drives were halted by Crestmoor interceptions.

Oceana's junior quarterback, Dave Hinds, was under the gun most of the evening. He completed six passes for 111 yards, but couldn't find his receivers in the latter stages of the game.

The Sharks' top offensive weapon was junior running back John Henderson, who ended up with 68 yards on 20 carries.

Crestmoor, 2-0, is just one of five Mid-Peninsula League teams undefeated in pre-season. And the Falcons haven't been scored upon yet.

Waterman Field Goal Surprise: Tigers Deadlock Padres

By STEVE JOHNSON
Times Correspondent

The local prep football season definitely had one of its high points for thrills Friday night in Pacifica.

Serra and host Terra Nova played come-from-behind twice each in a wild fourth quarter, before ending up in a 22-22 tie.

Dave Waterman kicked a 32-yard field goal with 15 seconds left in the game to give TN the deadlock with the favored Padres.

Serra is 2-0-1 in the practice season. Terra Nova finished 0-2-1, with easily its best effort coming against the Padres.

Serra had taken over the lead with 2:25 to go on a 15-yard screen pass from quarterback Rick Grossman to fullback Steve Venditti. The touchdown climaxed a 62-yard eight play drive that wiped out a five point TN advantage. Venditti followed good blocking down his left sideline and dove the last three yards.

Grossman rolled right on the two-point conversion and went in standing up for 22-19.

Tiger signal-caller Kim Gardner then coolly moved his team into Serra Territory with three big completions, including a 20-yarder to tight end Craig Curry on fourth-and-nine to the Padre 21. Curry caught the pass between two defenders down the middle.

Terra Nova broke a 7-7 halftime tie with a 15-play, 80-yard drive in the third quarter capped by fullback Jeff Bartizal's one-yard plunge.

Serra countered with a 64-yard, 13-play drive, with Venditti going over from the one. TN scored immediately after on a 64-yard screen play from Gardner to Dave Matas.

Gardner tallied on a 15-yard option run in the first quarter. Serra scored in the second quarter when defensive end Chris Milligan blocked a punt, picked the ball up after an extended scramble and ran in from the two.

Gardner gained 52 yards on seven carries and passed for 142 yards (7-13).

Panthers Outkick Colts

By CHRISTOPHER STAVE
Times Sports Writer

Burlingame High's football team has passing plays in its repertoire, but they may not be necessary — or even desirable.

The Panthers rolled up over 300 yards on the ground for the second straight week as they outslugged visiting El Camino Friday, 21-7.

Burlingame (2-0) made its share of early season mistakes, and missed a number of tackles. But the Panther rushers, veterans all, made up for a lot.

Fullback Rick Harper softened up the Camino middle, picking up 107 yards in 12 carries. Outside threat Byron Hawkins sprang loose on traps and sweeps for 115 yards in 12 carries. And quarterback Rusty McDowell added 42 yards on eight keepers.

Camino got tough running from Dennis Cowan and Vic Cariola, but couldn't sustain a drive. The Colts hurt themselves badly with penalties (11 for 135 yards).

Still, it was Camino that scored first, going 17 yards in six plays after recovering a fumbled punt. Quarterback Alan Kern sneaked over from the one on fourth down.

Burlingame struck back fast. Hawkins turned outside for nine, then 15 yards. Paul Curry got 20 and a couple of plays later McDowell scored from the four to make it 7-7 at the half.

Burlingame drove 72 yards for the lead on its first possession of the third quarter. Harper waltzed through a huge hole, then finally dragged tacklers to score from 18 yards out.

Hawkins ended the scoring early in the fourth period when he sprang loose on a trap, turned outside and out-sprinted the Colts 33 yards to the end zone.

El Camino, now 0-3, picked up 187 yards to Burlingame's 328 overall. Cowan led Colt rushers with 48 yards in 11 carries. Neither side passed effectively.

Cavemen vs. Astronauts SSF Tops Cap in Game

By JERRY LITRELL
Times Correspondent

It couldn't have been more of a philosophical conflict had Freud gone against Mel Brooks.

It was a traveling aerial circus pitted against a Sumo wrestler. Cavemen versus astronauts.

Chalk one up for Alley Oop.

When the statistical carnage ended Friday night on Clifford Field, South San Francisco High's football team remained undefeated and Capuchino remained unshamed as the Warriors rolled to a 42-28 win.

It was a statistician's nightmare. Capuchino, behind Kris Martinsen's 40 passing attempts, chalked up 492 yards total offense against "only" 455 for South City.

Martinsen completed 22 of his attempts for 274 yards, and three touchdowns hitting flanker Russ Slotnick 12 times for 127 yards and Pete Davos eight times for another 114.

The Mustangs were in the game until only four minutes remained. Twice they held a lead in the first half as Martinsen riddled the Warrior secondary.

Only the explosiveness of fullback Bob Luster kept the persistent Warriors coming back, until Luster's 67-yard touchdown scamper gave the Warriors at 14-12 lead.

Luster, who has now scored nine touchdowns in three games, carried 21 times for 213 yards and was backed ably by halfback Tali Ena's 171 yards in 13 carries.

It was easy to overlook other excellent performances lost in the shuffle. Cap running back Tim Eliades had 24 carries and 176 yards nestled among the 40 passes. Capuchino's air attack pointed the way to 32 first downs to South City's 16.

Martinsen, getting excellent protection all night, was sacked only once in the first half and twice more in the final moments of the game. And he used the protection to hit both Slotnick and Davos on basically simple patterns. South City was simple also. The Warriors just ran right up the middle, and the most exciting things on their offensive thrusts were occasional sweeps.

Capuchino.....6 6 8 8-28

Frosh Quarterback Leads CSM to Win

By FRED BAER
Times Correspondent

Doubts about College of San Mateo's quarterback situation this season were tempered by freshman Randy Gomez' performance in directing the Bulldogs' 21-7 opening Golden Gate Conference gridiron victory at rival Foothill Friday night.

San Mateo was strung on Foothill's first series as Owl quarterback Harry Hall found end Ricki Sharpe a step ahead of the secondary for a 53-yard scoring play and a quick 6-0 lead (after a wide conversion kick).

Both Hall and Gomez hit only the first of their initial six passes but then things turned around. Gomez, who was primarily a defensive back at Serra last season, connected on 18 of 29 for the game for 251 yards and two touchdowns with none intercepted.

Foothill tried three signal callers to complete just six of 19 and had three intercepted (two by Bulldog frosh Jeff Yock from South San Francisco).

Gomez hit tight end Bob Keiper with a 30-yard pass to open a 47-yard drive that produced the only TD CSM needed, frosh Bob Bedford from Carlmont scampering over left guard for the final yard with 1:36 left in the first quarter. CSM place kicker Jess Contreras, who had failed his previous scoring attempts during the Bulldogs' 1-1 practice campaign, made the first of three straight conversions for the evening.

Then, in the second period, it took just 27 seconds on the clock for the ball to change hands four times. And, on ensuing possessions, CSM fumbled the ball away on the Owl 15 and then on the three — so had to be satisfied with a 7-6 halftime lead.

Randy Gomez

The lone Foothill threats after the game opening score came at the outset of the second half when the Owls drove to the San Mateo 21 and to the 41 before losing fumbles — recovered by Kevin Matlock and Mark Rudd.

Gomez then engineered long drives capped by scoring strikes to Paul Bachtold (11 yards) and to Kevin McCoy (47 yards). McCoy's ball was actually tipped to him on the 35 after which he pivoted around a defender and sprinted to pavid.

According to CSM coach Bill Dickey, "Foothill was stunting their linebackers inside and they took our running game away from us." San Mateo's Bill Ring was the game's leading rusher with 66 yards on 22 carries — but well below his 167 yards of a week ago. But this time he was the leading receiver too with six catches (for 45 yards).

Bulldog tackle leaders were linebackers Rick Murphy, Harlon MacPhee and Greg Healy plus Ruddy. Healy also had an interception.

CSM shares the initial GGC lead with West Valley, a 40-20 victor over Laney last night, plus the winners of tonight's CCSF at San Jose and Chabot at Diablo Valley games. Diablo visits San Mateo next Saturday at 2 p.m.

Le Pacini

Local nostalgia buffs are going to have a big October.

Frank Strazzullo, the famous Daly City softball player who once hit over .600 for Poly High in what was then one of the fastest high school leagues in the country, and subsequently went into pro ball, has helped to organize two of the wildest orgies ever of old-time players doing their things.

Probably the bigger of the two events, only because it's the first annual, will be an Old-Timers Baseball Golf Tournament (are you with us?) on Oct. 31 at San Geronimo.

Thus far, Strazzullo has managed to line up (hold your breath): Jerry Tamalier, Joe and Ron Gaggero, Lefty Gomez, Marino Pieretti, Gino Cimoli, Pinky Hesse, Jim and Mike Baxes, Joe Orenge, Dario Logigiani, Don Benedetti, Dino Restelli, Dickie Hanlon, Dick Murray, Joe Brovia, Frank Falcone, Lou Landini, Sam Fenech, Walt Pocekay, Joe Polich, Lilio Marcucci, Lloyd Dickey, Gene Gaviglio, Reno and Ray Chesio, Pete Zasso, Frank Lucchesi, Charley Silvera, Joe Sprinz, Bob Joyce, Ted Jennings, Al Fachine, Bob Rosselli, Gus Triandos, Joe Delfino, John Hernandez, and undoubtedly more since this was written and others that Strazzullo has possibly forgotten to tell us about.

It will be shotgun affair with everybody teeing off at 11 a.m. and, hopefully, everybody in by 5 p.m. although that might be too much to be asking of all those tired old legs. When they do stagger in, there will be a steak or lobster or scampi dinner and undoubtedly, a little drinking.

The total package will cost $30 a head. Those who wish only to eat have to come up with just $9, and ample excuses for chickening out of the physical stuff.

If you're an interested old-timer, you can call golf pro Wayne Wallick at 488-4030, or Strazzullo at 387-4413.

THE OTHER AFFAIR will be happening sooner and will be populated by much the same cast of characters. We refer to the Fourth Annual Old-Timers of North Beach vs. Old Timers of the Rest of the Bay Area softball game at North Beach Playground this coming Monday at 7:15 p.m.

On this one, contact Strazzullo if you're interested in participating, even if it's to sit in the stands and swear at old friends or enemies.

If you wonder what makes these old-timers run, listen to Strazzullo, who is now in his middle 40s and made his comeback in his early 40s.

"A few years ago I thought I was finished with that old life, you know, rushing to games and getting banged up just for the satisfaction of playing, all that.

"Then, a few years ago, somebody talked me into playing softball, and even though my wife thought I was nuts, I tried it, and now I'm hooked again.

"It's not just the playing. I rarely go more than a few innings. It's just for the old comradeship; you know, bulling about the old days, ribbing the guys, all that. As for the actual playing, you tell yourself you're an adult and you're just playing for the fun of it and the exercise, and you don't care whether you win or lose, but then you get in a tight game and you're on base with the winning run and somebody gets a hit and you're straining for home plate, and damned if you don't find yourself sliding head over tail into some big catcher, ripping your pants and pulling a hamstring, just to win that damned game that nobody else cares about except those crazy old guys on the field.

"It's amazing how in those few seconds, you forget everything else, and the old instincts take over.

"Take Pete Zasso, the middle-aged school teacher from Lowell; you know, horn-rimmed glasses, full of dignity. He made his comeback about the same time I did. At the end of every season he rubs his aching muscles and says, 'This is it, don't bother me any more.'

"And when the new season starts, he's expecting my call, so he has his teen-aged boy answer the phone, and the kid recognizes my voice and you hear him calling to his father, 'Hey dad, it's Mr. Strazzullo.' Then in the background you hear Pete saying, 'Tell him I'm on sabbatical, tell him I'm on an African Safari, tell him I've passed away.' So I give the kid the date for the opening game, and Pete always shows up, sliding."

WE CAN'T ADD MUCH to the football "strike" that hasn't already been said, but we do find it amazing that the players, virtually all of them college graduates, have never been able to figure out a basic fact of life: that few of them could make a comparable living out of football, while most owners could easily do without football.

Simply put, most players need the game, but few owners do, except for ego gratification, which could undoubtedly be soothed through other avenues.

We somehow can't get worked up over the "oppression" of professional football players, some of whom, God forbid, are forced to work for only $20,000 a year and made to go to bed early, when we think of some of the truly oppressed workers of our times; guys like coal miners, who literally did, and sometimes still do, risk their lives daily, or farm workers who have had to go to bed early many times to avoid sitting in puddles on the floors of their shacks, or just to try to keep warm, or to forget their hunger.

WE CAN UNDERSTAND why the Warriors chose to let their number one draft pick, Joe Bryant, of LaSalle, go his own way, with his exorbitant salary demands. He may have been the big, strong forward they needed, but on the other hand, it looked as if they already had picked up their big, strong forward, and an experienced one, in Dwight Davis, for whom they traded with Cleveland. And Davis, with only two NBA seasons behind him, is still young.

With Cleveland, the 6-9½, 225 pound bruiser, averaged 10.9 points, 7.7 rebounds, 1.9 assists, one block and .83 steals per game. Broken down into full game increments of 48 minutes, that reads 17.8 points, 12.5 rebounds, 1.4 blocks, 3.2 assists, and 1.2 steals.

MONTE MOORE continues to make a fool of himself. His latest tirade was against teams out of the race who are saving their best pitchers for the A's, as if that were somehow unfair.

Perhaps Moore has never considered the matter of integrity.

YANKEE PITCHING has supposedly been the main reason for their "collapse," but at latest reading they were tied with the A's for second place in the AL for team ERA with a 3.34, behind Baltimore's 3.27.

But then of course if the Yankees and A's were in the other league, their standing would be fifth, behind L.A. (3.04), Pittsburgh, Cincy and New York.

TAG-END: Our vote for the baseball oddity of the year goes to an incident in the PCL which took place in Honolulu when the batboy for Hawaii was ejected from the game by umpire Greg Kosc in a game against Sacramento.

The Sporting News report from Honolulu was rather sketchy, but batboy Bob Reeves was booted when, "Words were exchanged after Kosc had wiped mud off home plate with a towel and Kosc then gave the heavenly sign (to Reeves)."

Ancient Agers Take League

In the Daly City Recreation Division's Old Timers League the Ancient Agers celebrated a 4-0 foreclosure of the B of A Veterans to claim the championship in the over 30 league.

It was the hitting of Craig Heise, Tom Hughes and Dean Smith all with two for three that powered the Ancient Agers to this playoff win. The power in the attack was contributed by Bruce Heise who collected two hits including a solo homer.

The defense was sparked by Tito at second base and the strong arm of pitcher John Mendes.

Vikes Get Fumbles, Upset SH

Mills High's football team evened its non-league record at 1-1 Friday with a 21-12 upset win over visiting Sacred Heart of San Francisco at Capuchino.

Kerwin Williams scored on runs of three and four yards that gave the Vikings a 14-0 lead at one point in the first half.

Sacred Heart (2-1) closed to within 14-12 in the third quarter, but later in the same period quarterback Nick Bagileo gave Mills its final edge on a one-yard TD plunge.

All three Viking scores came on short drives set up by fumble recoveries. Rick Sundberg, Howard Grech and Williams made the key recoveries for Mills.

Castro Given Mental Exam

A judge has appointed three psychiatrists to determine if Michael P. Castro, 27, of Pacifica, was mentally insane when he allegedly beheaded his father, Felix, at the family home last month.

The reports are due Oct. 14.

Castro, represented by attorney Steve Grier of Burlingame, pleaded not guilty and not-guilty by reason of insanity to a charge of murder.

School Problems Told

Dismal forecasts for education in the county were made at the San Mateo County Council of Mayors meeting in South San Francisco Friday night.

Dr. Paul Nielsen, South San Francisco Unified School District Superintendent, and George Chaffey, Sequoia Union High School District superintendent, told of school closures and the impact they will have on the community as they occur.

Both superintendents have been embroiled this year in conflict concerning the recommended closing of a school in their districts.

Chaffey said the schools in this county are "facing traumatic times."

"The decline in enrollment is going to accelerate rather than slow down and we are going to see little relief in the future," Chaffey said.

"He called closing a school 'a delicate task' and said that the turmoil in his district shows what such a suggestion can do to a community.

Chaffey said that a major question in considering school enrollment balance is the enrollment size of any particular school.

A projected school closure has been put-off for one year, Nielsen said of this district.
